

Transit Plans.

Is getting to work an everyday headache? Is it a struggle to pay for, public transportation or van pool to work? If paying for these expenses is getting out of hand, you may want to consider a Transportation Plan.

Transit plans allow you to set aside your hard-earned dollars on a pre-tax basis to pay for the expense of getting to and from work.

Our comprehensive service includes:

Transit pass - pass, token, fare card or voucher purchased to get you to and from Vanpooling - transportation provided between your home and work in a commuter highway vehicle. The vehicle must hold more than six adult passengers, and 80 percent of the vehicle mileage must be used to get people to and from work.

Key Features for Transit Plans

- Debit cards may only be used at merchant terminals at point of sale where only fare media for local transit systems can be purchased.
- Employers are no longer permitted to provide qualified transportation fringe benefit in the form of cash reimbursement where vouchers or smart cards are readily available.

The IRS maximum monthly reimbursement amounts allowable are within the Resource Center, Contribution Limits.
